Description: The NIH formally established the Division of Program Coordination, Planning, and Strategic Initiatives (DPCPSI) as part of implementing the requirements of the NIH Reform Act of 2006. DPCPSI directs a number of activities, such as: identifying emerging scientific opportunities, rising public health challenges, or scientific knowledge gaps that merit further research; assisting the NIH in addressing areas of emerging scientific opportunities and public health challenges effectively; and planning, supporting, and providing technical assistance in the development of program evaluations. The DPCPSI also coordinates research and activities related to research on AIDS, behavioral and social sciences, womens health, disease prevention, dietary supplements, and research infrastructure.
