Proper Citation: BIDMC X-ray Crystallography Core (RRID:SCR_009678)

Description: Core facility that provides the following services: X-ray crystallography service, X-ray crystallography reference database access service, X-ray crystallographic data analysis and processing service, Access to x-ray crystallography using synchrotron radiation, X-ray crystallography advising and consultation service.

The X-ray Crystallography Facility located at 99 Brookline Ave. (Research North) was recently established as a core to serve the needs of investigators in the BIDMC and Harvard Medical School community interested in using structural biology as a tool in their research.
