Description: Core facility that provides the following services: Cell culture services, Cell line freezing, Transient transfection, FACS Analysis, n-Counter mRNA analysis. Provides technologies and resources required for studies on polarized epithelial cells that line mucosal surfaces. We provide specialized epithelial cell culture and gene manipulation services, customized materials and instrumentation, expert know-how, and training to facilitate structural and functional studies on polarized epithelial cell culture systems or mucosal intestinal tissue in situ.

Resource Type: core facility, service resource, access service resource

Keywords: maintaining cell culture, low temperature freezing, transfection, flow cytometry assay, rna quantitation assay
