Description: THIS RESOURCE IS NO LONGER IN SERVICE, documented on July 17, 2013. Repository of de-identified clinical reports available for NLP researchers has been designed. Work with the AMIA NLP working group in designing annotation schemas and obtaining annotations, design a repository for shareable annotations, help design and execute a shared task in IE from clinical reports. The University of Pittsburgh NLP Repository contains clinical reports that are available to the community for NLP research purposes and comprises: # Report Repository - one month of de-identified clinical reports from multiple hospitals and # Annotation Repository - annotations performed on reports from the Report Repository. Anyone performing annotations on reports from the NLP Repository is required to deposit their annotations. The Repository contains reports of the following types generated from multiple hospitals during a single month: * History and Physicals * Progress Notes * Consultation Reports * Radiology Reports * Surgical Pathology Reports * Emergency Department Reports * Discharge Summaries * Operative Reports * Cardiology Reports
